

ALLIANCE MEMBERS:

Why attend the 2026 Student Data Privacy Consortium (SDPC) & Unity Convening?

Participating in the 2026 Student Data Privacy (SDPC) & Unity Convening is essential for collaborating with peers and lead the development of privacy-first data standards and resources that protect learners while advancing responsible innovation.

The 2026 SDPC & Unity Convening is a pivotal opportunity to lead the charge in protecting student data and shaping privacy-first education systems. Here's why your participation matters:

Collaborate to Strengthen Data Privacy Across the Ecosystem

Cross-Sector Trust Building: Engage with educators, technologists, policymakers, and vendors to co-create solutions that prioritize privacy, transparency, and ethical data use.

Community-Led Privacy Dialogues: Alliance Members are invited to lead sessions under the theme "Charting The Future: Privacy, People & the Power of Unity," fostering open conversations on safeguarding learner data.

Influence Privacy-Centric Standards & Resources

Privacy by Design: Help embed privacy principles into open data standards, ensuring interoperability doesn't compromise student safety or compliance.

Policy & Practice Alignment: Help bridge the gap between legislation and implementation, ensuring Community resources support compliance and ethical responsibility.

Advance Responsible and Ethical Data Use

Stewardship in Action: Share and learn best practices for managing student data with integrity, balancing innovation with legal and ethical obligations.

Empowering Learners Safely: Support initiatives that use data to enhance lifelong learning while maintaining rigorous privacy protections.

Lead with Unity, Integrity, and Impact

Strategic Privacy Visioning: Collaborate on a future where privacy stewardship is central to educational progress and technology development.

Shared Values Platform: Align with a community committed to equity, responsible data use, and collective leadership in privacy-forward education.
